Plastic Injection Moulding Business For Sale

This is a rare opportunity to acquire an established plastic injection moulding business which has been operating for many years, and comes complete with ownership of many of the moulds used to produce the products. The Vendor advises the cost to replicate this business is substantially higher than the asking price, because the cost to acquire the plant & equipment and moulds alone would be plus $1m. There is a range of products that are manufactured and supplied to a long-standing customer base. The business comes with experienced staff employed to undertake the work and systems in place to make it easy to operate. The Vendor advises there is good scope for further development and growth, as the business and equipment are operating below full capacity. So this represents exceptional value for a company group, syndicate or individual with plans to become involved or further expand into this industry – including as a “bolt on” to an existing company aligned with this industry and those looking to acquire their own manufacturing facility .

Asking Price:

$440,000 Plant & equipment & moulds

$185,000 Stock (estimate)
