

Plastic Injection Moulding & Engineering Business

This is an opportunity to acquire an established plastic injection moulding business and engineering division, which has been operating for many years. There is a range of products that are manufactured and supplied to a long-standing and diverse industry customer base.

The business comes with experienced staff employed to undertake the work. The Vendors have not been active in the business for several years and mostly reside elsewhere, so the business is run under management. It is operating well below full capacity, with sales last year being circa $1m.

The Plastics Division is the majority of the business sales (approx. 80%). It is well equipped with plastic injection moulding equipment which is capable of processing many thermo plastics materials in various colours. There are a number of injection moulding machines ranging from 25 tonne to 650 tonne. So this might ideally suitable for a "bolt on" to an existing company to achieve a greater scale of operation.

The Vendors own the premises from where the business operates (which is significantly larger than needed). They are anticipating the Purchaser may wish to relocate the business in the short term, so are prepared to provide a short-term lease if this is what the Purchaser desires. The Vendors are quite realistic in their expectations for the sale of the business.
